Criteria for Rankings

Thank you for choosing Red River Reviews. We provide truthful and unbiased reviews on a variety of angling products. Today, we will be looking at the Top 5 Fishing Lures for use here in our great state of Oklahoma. The lures were compared on the following criteria: performance, durability, and versatility.

#5 ACME Sidewinder

This lure is not a well known lure, but it is a personal favorite of mine for a variety of species. It has a great action in the water, and the light reflects off it as it moves through the water giving it a shimmer. It is also very versatile, it's all metal body is not easily damaged. Finally it is very versatile and can be used for trout living in streams to bass hiding in huge lakes.

#4 Texas Rig

This style rig has been trusted for many years and is still a favorite of many bass fisherman. These rigs perform best in heavy cover and shallow water situations. They are fairly durable though the worms can be torn or lost after lot of fishing. They are also fairly versatile, they can be used for most bass fishing situations although they do lack in big water situations where you need to cover lots of area.

#3 Rattletrap

These lures are a great choice if you need to cover lots of water. These lures have a great noise that you can hear from out of the water and also have a great action. They are durable, though like any hard lure the paint can wear off after some time. They also are fairly versatile, they can be used for most open water situations, but they struggle in heavy cover.

#2 Storm WildEye Shad

These lures are well priced and come in a huge variety of colors. These lures only finished second because of their durability issues. The rubber bodies can be torn after lots of fishing and the tails commonly are bitten off. These lures excel in other categories though. They catch tons of fish and have the best action by far of all our competitors. They also are extremely versatile. They can be used for anything because they have such a lifelike action.

#1 Strike King Spinnerbait

These lures are available in a variety of sizes, colors, and styles. They are durable, and if you somehow manage to tear the skirt, than a variety of new ones are available. They also perform very well. If the fish are biting, then this lure will probably catch 'em. These lures also have great versatility. They can cover lots of water and can be used in situations where other lures would get snagged in heavy cover. They will catch almost any predatory fish, from bass to musky.
