

CHOICE BOARD BINGO (STAFF EDITION)

B	I	N	G	O
Write a recommendation letter.	Create a counselor newsletter.	Give feedback on a student's college essay.	Write a thank you note to a colleague for helping with FAFSA night.	Give students who aren't familiar with college essays examples of finished college essays.
Write a blurb inviting students to apply for a scholarship your family has endowed.	Write a procedure that explains the process of selecting a college and applying.	Write a brief explanation of the different types of colleges and/or universities.	Write an explanation of college expectations for a first-year student.	Write an explanation of extra-curricular activities that students could participate in and earn a salary.
Write a narrative account of a new college student's first day.	Write a brief expository piece that explains the value of taking dual enrollment courses.	Write a request inviting students and parents to volunteer at a campus fundraising event.	Write an explanation for advising students to retake exams to improve their scores.	Write a guide to retaking exams with ways to increase scores
Write a guide for campus visits.	List requirements for college admissions.	Write guidelines for applying for financial aid.	Write a description of a scholarship that a local family has endowed.	Translate a newsletter/email into Spanish for families.
Come up with an ice breaker for an upcoming staff meeting.	Generate a list of goals for a student's IEP.	Summarize an academic article for quicker reading.	Scaffold a text for students who are below grade level.	Proofread a student's scholarship application essay.

CHOICE BOARD BINGO (STUDENT EDITION)

B	I	N	G	O
Come up with ideas for a college essay.	Make a plan to study for the ACT to qualify for scholarships.	Write an email to a teacher or coach asking for a letter of recommendation.	Create a “brag sheet” to share with people you ask for recommendations.	Write an essay explaining your commitment to a political issue that drew public attention to you.
Discuss a project that you participated in. Explain the process and the outcomes.	Come up with ideas for a scholarship essay.	Make a plan to apply for scholarships and for selecting a university.	Write a persuasive note to your classmates inviting them to participate in a charity fund-raising event.	Identify a particular weakness and determine ways to overcome it.
Write a thank you note to a teacher/coach to express appreciation.	Discuss an environmental issue that has shaped your thinking.	Write a college essay.	Make a list of expenses you expect to incur during your 4 years in college.	Proofread your college essay.
Write an email explaining to your instructor why you need an extension on the due date for your research paper.	Write a note to your teacher explaining your absence on a test day/turn-in essay day.	Proofread your scholarship essay.	Write a scholarship essay.	Write an essay comparing and contrasting a book and the movie based on it.
Write an essay about a book that you’ve recently read. Critique it.	Write a letter to a local business inquiring about the possibility of working for them in the summer.	Write a new article discussing your feelings/opinions about some world event.	Identify a particular strength and explain how you plan to use it in your college experience and how it will strengthen your career plans.	Write a note to your dual-enrollment instructor asking for guidance on some aspect of a course

