LIST OF 8

Summary

Students will collaborate with a small group to complete a task in a timely manner. Each student will be given an opportunity to answer a prompt and allow their peers to discuss and approve their answers. The first team to complete the task accurately will be deemed the winner, but their answers must be correct. The rounds will continue with different prompts as long as time allows. While the example procedure below focuses on how this strategy can be used in a grammar context, the game can be modified for different subjects based on the prompts asked. Also, the number of items students list can be changed depending on classroom needs. For example, a prompt for a science class could state: "List 6 elements from the periodic table of elements."

Procedure

1. Create 3-4 small groups of students.
2. Provide each group with a writing utensil and something to write on (we suggest white boards and markers). Assign a recorder for the group.
3. Set a 1-minute timer (or more) for each round.
4. Give the teams a prompt (see list below for ideas). For each round, the teams are given the same prompt and are competing against each other to see who can complete the prompt the quickest and most accurately.
5. Each person in the group must attempt to answer. If they can't think of a word, they can say "pass." The recorder is writing all their answers down.
6. After the timer goes off, teams share their answers and check each other's work.
7. Repeat steps 3-6 as often as needed.
8. Scoring. The team(s) who do not complete the prompt or who get answers wrong receive a point. For example, if Team A has eight answers before the time runs out but has one answer wrong, while Team B was able to get all eight correct still within the timeframe but were last, Team A gets a point while Team B doesn't. The winning team has the lowest score!
9. After the game has concluded, have students individually reflect on their experiences with the content prompts. For example, ask them to describe how many they got correct or had to pass.

Here are some suggested prompts to use during the activity. Feel free to attach these prompts to a text you're already working on in class.

- List eight adjectives to describe ____.
- List eight action verbs in the _____ tense.

- List eight nouns you would find in a _____.
